On behalf of Onward, Stack Data Strategy surveyed a representative online sample of 4,005 UK adults between 29 November and 8 December 2023. Numbers with a sample size under 50 should not be seen as representative of the demographic group as a whole. Data is weighted to age/gender (interlocked), education, region, and past vote. Due to weighting and rounding, percentages may not add up to 100%.

On behalf of Onward, Stack Data Strategy surveyed a representative online sample of 4,005 UK adults between 29 November and 8 December 2023. Numbers with a sample size under 50 should not be seen as representative of the demographic group as a whole. Data is weighted to age/gender (interlocked), education, region, and past vote. Due to weighting and rounding, percentages may not add up to 100%.

On behalf of Onward, Stack Data Strategy surveyed a representative online sample of 4,005 UK adults between 29 November and 8 December 2023. Numbers with a sample size under 50 should not be seen as representative of the demographic group as a whole. Data is weighted to age/gender (interlocked), education, region, and past vote. Due to weighting and rounding, percentages may not add up to 100%.

On behalf of Onward, Stack Data Strategy surveyed a representative online sample of 4,005 UK adults between 29 November and 8 December 2023.

Numbers with a sample size under 50 should not be seen as representative of the demographic group as a whole.

Data is weighted to age/gender (interlocked), education, region, and past vote. Due to weighting and rounding, percentages may not add up to 100%.

If you could decide how many people the Government should allow to migrate to the UK each year including refugees, students and people coming for work, how many people do you think that should be? Please write down a number using digits only.
